True we Kentuckians have fallen upon strange times, when failure of memory would be a blessing. We have sacrificed our affection and principles to avarice and partisan faction, headed by the administration, as if assuming that the North-men have all thus far sustained the honor of our arms, takes every opportunity to grieve us, insult, and traduce us. But under this great shadow of multiplied evils, thank God the steady gleam of patriotism still dispels this gloom. The South, however, is not the only portion of our people but the more exemplified. As the President would say, this reminds me of an anecdote. At a dinner party a tyro took his seat at the head of the table, and, after the most artful and eloquent defense of the Southern cause, declared that he was born in the Fifteenth Kentucky Infantry—Letter from Old Soldier—Bravery of a Dances—Decrease in Population—General Kirby's Report of the Battle of Stone River—Kentucky Officers Commanded—An account of the Anti-Slavery Club—Fugitive Slave Law—Fugitive Slave's Mails—Telegraphic News—Items, &c.

Those who have received cards of invitation to the masquerade at the Louisville Hotel are informed that the party will be given this evening.

YOUTHFUL GUERRILAS.—From information we have received, we are led to believe that a number of youths in this city will soon be thoroughly prepared to enter, with prospects of success, upon a career similar to that in which John Morgan and his band have gained some notoriety. We are informed that a party of boys, of various ages, denizens of Marshall street, make almost daily forays upon the little boys who attend the school on Walnut street, above Jackson, robbing them of their dinners, buckles, toys and any other treasures that the poor little fellows may chance to have in their possession, the young rascals retiring with the booty to their fastnesses in Marshall street. We have heard of an instance in which one school-boy was robbed of a coat a day or two ago, and other articles of great value even have been taken from the scholars, who are utterly powerless in the hands of these embryo guerrillas. The attention of the police is called to these high-handed outrages.

CONFEDERATE MONEY.—While the armies of General Bragg and Kirby Smith were in Kentucky last fall a vast amount of this worthless trash was "shoved" or forced upon our people. In a private way, this trash is now dealt with upon our streets by money-changers. The present rate of discount is forty to forty-four per cent. The difference between Government treasury notes and gold being sixty per cent in favor of gold, and the difference between Confederate money and treasury notes being forty per cent in favor of the latter, we invite Prof. Chase's young ladies to enlighten us as to how much gold could be purchased with a dozen of Confederate notes.

APPOINTMENTS FOR KENTUCKY.—The following appointments under the internal revenue act have been made for Kentucky: George D. Blakely, Russellville, Collector, First District; Charles S. Todd, Owensboro, Assessor, Second District; Phillip Speed, Louisville, Collector, Third District; Edgewood, Neelham, Assessor; Richard Apperson, Mt. Sterling, Collector, Fourth District; A. L. Greer, Covington, Assessor.

Major Cumberbatch.—Chief Paymaster for the Department of the Ohio has sent out ten paymasters with $1,000,000, to pay the troops in Kentucky. This will pay a portion of the soldiers to the 31st of October and a portion to December 31st. Major Cumberbatch expects a further remittance from Washington, which will receive the government made by the Constitution.

THEATRE.—The distinguished American tragedienne, Mrs. Waller, will appear this evening as Meg Merrilies, in the musical drama of Guy Mannering, a character which is rendered truly great in her hands. Mr. W. H. Fuller, the champion skater, will appear again before the pieces, and the entertainment will conclude with the laughable farce of the Wives.

Respectfully yours,
TH. N. LINSDAY.

ANOTHER "UNCOMMON WOMAN."—We published a few days since the exploits of Mrs. Spencer, a woman, Indiana, in preparing for her husband, John Spencer, an attorney, who will require the proper authority to progress with the work of the law.

ANARCHISTS.—The popular troupe have excited great enthusiasm elsewhere, and were greeted with a very large audience at Masonic Temple last evening. It is a source of regret that their engagements will admit of their giving but one more entertainment in this city, which will take place at the Temple this evening.

Our correspondent at Danville, inadvertently alluded to Lieut.-Col. Reuben Mumford as the commander of the Sixth Kentucky Cavalry. Col. Lewis D. Watkins has command of the Sixth, which he has rendered distinguished service to the State and nation.

Two hundred and eighty-five pounds of tobacco were sold at the city's warehous yesterday, which was the largest day's business of the season. One hundred of fine manufacturing leaf sold at $36 per hundred pounds.

The ORPHANS SOCIETY.—This talented musical association gave a private rehearsal at Beck's Hall last evening, appearing in opera. The entertainment, which was very largely attended, closed with a select dancing party.

Wood's MIRROR OF THE WORLD.—This series of panoramic views, one of the most stupendous paintings of the kind, will be exhibited for the first time in this city at Moran Hall to-morrow evening.

Mr. George H. Bentley, the arrival of the Campbell Minstrels, arrived in the city yesterday morning. The troupe will make their first appearance at Masonic Temple to-morrow evening.

Owing to the high stage of the river, work has been suspended for the present on the new railroad bridge over the Kentucky river at Frankfort.

Dear Sir:—In reply to your communication, offering me $500 that you have for the use of the hospital, I would like to inform you that we have no money to pay you, and that we do not equally $500 in Confederate notes of all denominations sent by mail, postage paid, on the receipt of $5, by headed by the administration, as if assuming that the North-men have all thus far sustained the honor of our arms, takes every opportunity to grieve us, insult, and traduce us.

True we Kentuckians have fallen upon strange times, when failure of memory would be a blessing. We have sacrificed our affection and principles to avarice and partisan faction,

But under this great shadow of multiplied evils, thank God the steady gleam of patriotism still dispels this gloom. The South, however, is not the only portion of our people but the more exemplified. As the President would say, this reminds me of an anecdote.

Correspondence of the Louisville Journal
OUR FRIENDS LETTERS.

FRANKFORT, Feb. 6.

In my letter speaking of the secession causes I stated a few simple facts, in order to be as impartial as the action as they are. The cause of the war was vast amount of effervescent indignation has been evolved, and new and fearful relatives of some of the members of that committee have appeared, confusing the three general classes of facts.

It is not possible to use the flowery language of "W. L. W." of the Chicago Times, but I can and will tell the truth, something which he is not willing or able to do.

Colonel DeCourcy's brigade composed of the following regiments, viz: 16th Ohio, Lieutenant-Colonel F. Kershner; 22d Kentucky, Lieut. Col. G. W. Monroe; 12d Ohio, Lieut. Col. Dan A. Farley; 24d Indiana, Major-General J. W. Blair; 2d Indiana, on the 23d, on the south bank of the Yazoo River, and made a reconnaissance through a belt of woods to Mrs. Lake's plantation to discover any approach to the city. The rebels had advanced a few shots with the rebel pickets, neither side doing any damage. On the 27th a general advance was ordered, General J. W. Blair, with his centre, Steel the left, in crossing the large open fields known as Mrs. Lake's plantation, the enemy opened fire on us from a dense woods on the opposite side of the bayou. On the 28th, General J. W. Blair advanced from the woods with the 22d Kentucky, 2d Indiana, and part of the 12d Ohio opened fire with these regiments, and Foster's 20-pound battery. A skirmish ensued, two rebels were wounded and driven from the woods, and as night had set in, the brigade advanced on the ground. The 42d worked all night through a wood to the protection of the 2d Indiana. The rebels had advanced, but were repelled. Each was beaten down in the opposite house by way of substitutes to the prevailing will. The master will have to be adjusted by a Committee of Conference.

The Princess Royal has on board, a large amount of arms and ammunition, complete machinery for the construction of an iron-clad man, also a passenger, an intelligent English mechanic, who is well versed in the process of making and building projectiles.

THE RICHMOND EXAMINER of the 5th and 6th inst. has the following:

THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES has passed an appropriation bill. So far as the underwriters, or one of us, will, on Tuesday, Feb. 13, 1863, about the hour of 11 o'clock A. M., be present, and the gates of 24th Street, in aid of the rebels, and the gates of 17th Street, on the south side of Broadway, at the intersection of Broadway and 17th Street, in aid of the rebels, or in the division among Dougherty's forces, in case No. 1, in the division among Dougherty's forces, in case No. 2, in the division among Dougherty's forces, in case No. 3, will be closed by B. H. Donisthorpe, O. Hiltz, before the hour of 12 o'clock, and the gates of 24th Street, when extended, shall close with Broadway.

The purchase will be required to give bond with a surety, and the amount will be $100,000, and a fine will be retained as additional security.
